Dear Sir/Madam,

Recently I learned of the Government's intention to remove proof of identity for voters before casting their vote.

This is not a healthy policy for the State of Queensland, as it allows the possibility of fraud.

I urge you, therefore, to retain the current requirement of proof of identity to maintain integrity in the electoral system.

Proof of identity is widely accepted and practised in the community and this good practice should continue for voters.

Yours sincerely,

David Cuff
