We need to ensure the integrity of the electoral system, so I cannot understand why you are wanting to remove the requirement for voters to provide ID. We in the public are used to having to provide ID for all sorts of things - opening bank accounts, electricity accounts, for driver's licence, travel documents etc. It is important to minimise the possibility of voter fraud and I am wondering why the Labor state government is seeking to remove the requirement for ID for voters? It just doesn't add up. Also, why hasn't this been reported in the media

So I am writing this email to ask that you keep the current requirement for proof of identity for each voter.

Thank you.

Yours sincerely,

Peter Lane
