I have just found out that the new government intends changing the law regarding voter ID!

Doe's this mean that we will return to their policy of vote early vote often! Even a simple minded fool knows that the system of voting we have is prone to abuse.

I still have a letter from Peter Beaties office telling me that they would take care of my postal vote?

When I rang their office I was advised that it was a mistake!!! I wonder how many mistakes they made!!

I feel that it is VITAL that voters should have some means of identifying that they are legal voters.

The sending of a letter to registered voters should go some way to reducing the possibility of fraudsters making a joke of the system.

The big question however is WHY do they want to change it?

What are they afraid of?

And what is the true motive ?
