Dear Sir/Madam

*I am concerned about the intended repealing of the voter id legislation.
The failure to produce ID at the ballot box opens the way for electoral fraud. What was wrong with the previous system introduced by the Newman government where one had to produce proof of identity and sign?
Is this not more honest - or is honesty an old fashioned concept?*

We have a card for everything else. We live in a first world democracy, these things ought to be world standard. No ID will create more voter fraud by interested lobby groups. Surely we need to tighten not relax the standard! We are not a third world country!

Yours sincerely

Fiona Tiaon
