To whom it may concern.

It has come to my attention that the current Government has been short of a plan for Queensland so are putting through legislation today with provision of proof of identity before a person can vote. It is obvious the the government wants to get back to the previous theme , "Vote early and often" that was well known happening at elections that is a to gain extra votes in low margin seat. Also voting for dead people still on the electoral role.

object to that coming back to a democratic country.
