Q5: Do you think that human rights are properly protected in Queensland? Why/why not?

No, The police force and politicians seem to care more about results than the mode through which those results are achieved. Speed Cameras at the base of a hill for example.

Q6: Do you support the introduction of a Human Rights Act in Queensland? Why/why not?

Yes, because it wouldn't be as inflexible as the US bill of rights (aka easier to change) and make what people were allowed to do and what the government/police wasn't allowed to do more transparent. To change it should evoke more public backlash than legal obstacle.

Q7: Can you think of a situation from your life or someone else's life that shows why Queensland needs a Human Rights Act?

A few friend of mine was raped a couple years ago. Despite the fact there was a confession and she wanted a prosecution, she was repeatedly requested by those in charge to drop the matter. A conviction was eventually reached, but she was further traumatised by that process due to their behaviour and another girl might have been dissuaded completely leaving a rapist free and footloose.
