No because ive had to experience loss& respect trust truth no understanding on cultural ways of everyday dealing in everyday life in society

Yes because it protects family rights as law should be responsible in systems to not disclose any information under the law

Q7: Can you think of a situation from your life or someone else's life that shows why Queensland needs a Human Rights Act?

Well back in 2006 we lost my eldest son to police chase instantly killed stolen car now weres my rights to access information under the systems knowing my son was not a crimminal but made out to be one 6weeks later we lost my youngest sons to train accidents when making decisions on behalf of parents should be in written documentation aslo now i been left with no rights as a mother yet my sons lay buried on my ancestors lands with no head stones after the fact that funds were raised and we had no rights why ???being under curate people took advantage of our loss yet i sat through both inquests [REDACTED] yet its a conflict of interest to have same coroner no justice no compensation for my sons yet for 10years ive sat back and watch this government give foreigners millions in support compensations paid to other parents for there losses governments honours in names of lossess yet we are traditional descendants to jagerra lands
