Subject: BILL OF RIGHTS
Date: Thursday, 14 April 2016 8:24:28 PM

Dear Sir/Madam.

I think one of the most important human rights is for all Queenslanders to be provided with the right to be "Innocent until proven guilty". This basic right which is afforded to criminals of all irks (murderers, rapists etc) is a basic right which ALL Queenslanders should be afforded. It is a right supported by United Nations yet the Queensland LABOR PARTY want to take it away from landholders in Queensland (purely on the grounds that they can then accuse a landholder and send him broke trying to prove his innocence by bullying him with the huge public purse available to them if he does not plead guilty for them). If this basic right is not added to a bill of rights then it's not worth the paper it's written on.
