For transgender individuals in places around the world where they have made similar changes to gender recognition see quantifiable improvements in their quality of life and access to necessary medical systems. Additionally many trans and gender diverse individuals may not be able to afford or be eligible for the surgeries required under the current BDMR for changing their gender marker, I know I'm not in the BMI range for a vaginoplasty and I'm not able to afford the tens of thousands of dollars for the surgery that may or may not even have trained surgeons in QLD
