As a woman I am shocked that allowing people to change their birth sex has been legalised in Queensland without any voice from women. The trans movement is steamrolling women, governments and media with such baseless lies about sex. Sex should never be confused with gender but they have successfully conned everyone, except women into believing they really are women. I was born a woman therefore I DO NOT identify as one. I just am a woman. No one, no one can change their biological sex, never! You can however change your gender to suit your whims at the time. This is opening a disaster for children whose bodies are already being drowned in drugs they will no longer be able to sexually function with. What are you thinking? Stand up as my representatives and overturn this horrendous decision and make a stand against the trans bullies while respecting women's right to their own toilets and sports and opinions. [REDACTED]
