Submitter Comments:

I don't want my young daughter being forced to share facilities with someone who was born male and has a male body but has been able to change their birth certificate to hide the biological facts. This is completely unfair on women and females and I'm sure many males would feel the same the other way around. I do however, support the option to add preferred gender to birth certificates and some other forms of identification as this does not ignore biology and science but recognises someone preference.
