Submitter Comments:

Someones feeling should not determine what is detailed on any legal documents, just because a person feels more feminine or masculin should not allow their gender to be changed on their birth certificate, the name of the document itself states the type of document, a document of birth detailing the Childs parents(s) location of birth, date and time of birth and gender of child at birth. If a said person who feels the need to identify as an opposing gender to the gender they were born then introduce a gender change certificate to appease these people,
