Submitter Comments:

I was almost raped in high school many times and my only SAFE SPACE was the female toilets. I was consistently groped between classes but the female toilets saved me. When I got my menstrual cycle once again the female toilets allowed me to talk to other girls in confidence about tampons and pads. Training bras itched or moved sometimes and to get advice about it from other girls really helped me. This continues into adult hood. Men can be very aggressive and controlling and the female toilets is where we always go when scared. Things need to stay as they are. Don't allow sex offenders, predators and peadofiles in our female toilets. We don't deserve it and it's so cruel that you would risk a rape for a few men who want to wear a dress. Girls need a safe space.
