Having been made aware of the recently passed legislation in the State of Queensland I would like to make the following submission. To pass legislation that allows an individual to change his/her gender at will by changing his/her birth certificate is one of the most ridiculous acts by an elected government that I have ever heard of. To what end would such laws be engendered, I wonder, why is it that our elected officials and their paid bureaucrats, waste their time and our, the taxpayers money on this kind of activity when there are far more serious matters to be dealt with in our society, poverty, crime, cost of living crises, etc, etc.??? This legislation will prove to enhance the crime in prisons especially woman's prisons and will also increase the daily issues that women have with men pretending to be women in toilets and in spaces reserved for women as well as the safety of children. In my opinion this legislation is one of the the most absurd act of any parliament, among many such acts of parliaments that we the public have to endure and should be struck out of the laws immediately.
