Submitter Comments:

Australia is a beautiful country that boasts multiculturalism and diversity. This bill is an epitome for supporting various citizens and peoples, those with real lives, jobs, and community. With the passing of this registration bill, the community that is Australia will see real and feasible improvements for the people. My name is [REDACTED], but that is not my legal name. I identify as a Queer Trans Muslim, I reside in Australia, and I deserve rights just as the next Australian. Others may not find this bill useful to them, but trust the people within the community who deserve to have their rights supported too. With the opportunity given to pass this bill, you will indefinitely make hundreds of thousands of Australians feel accepted, safe, and most importantly happy with a successful outcome. I may not be the stereotypical Australian, but I am one, and so are my queer friends, and those friends have more queer friends all around the country; and we all deserve to feel safe and accepted. Please consider this comment as an individual who just wants to see the world a better, more diverse and accepting place. Change for the better starts today and it is opportune with the passing of this bill, the community and I cannot stress enough. Thank you.
