This billing act will be a major lifesaver for many people in the trans/nonbinary as well as cultural background communities. All these people find it had to fit into today's roles with the problems of not being able to be their tru selves or even the possibility of incorrectly pronounced names. Some people just like to put who they were who they are not now behind them as that is the person in the past. Less stress means more inclusivity for everyone all together. It also means suicidal rates will drop marginally especially with many of the newer generation coming into the world trying to find who they are. Easier access to being able to change legal documentations will same more queenslander's lives as well as save alot of griefs through losses of loved ones coz of harsh livings in today's society.
