Submitter Comments:

Queensland trans, nonbinary and genderqueer individuals deserve the appropriate respect when dealing with the state and legitimate business operations. There are no good reasons to require expensive, uncovered and invasive surgery to allow people to update their details to a genuinely held belief. It's very likely you have many submissions from transphobic bigots who want to erase our existences, force us back into the closet, or otherwise eliminate us from society. Like the Nazis crusade against marginalised groups, including gay and trans people who relied on German resources like the Institut für Sexualwissenschaft, which had its library publicly burned and its Jewish creator run out of the country, they will lose in the end. It is your duty to oppose their hatred and bigotry.
