I work in the disability field and feel there would be a huge benefit if more organizations looking for volunteers has a specific directory or easy to find location to say they welcomed people with disability (PWD). I personally support 38 people and have contacts with many other with disability and a constant challenge is finding meaningful and inclusive roles for them within the general community and not activities specifically for the disabled. It seems to me there is a mutually beneficial outcome if organizations can include PWD as part of their resources and what we need is

1. Easy to find look up of organizations and roles
2. Advocacy and encouragement of organizations to include PWD
3. Some pathway to make this happen.
