Dear Gary

Regarding the proposal for the parliamentary term to be extended to four years. I have no problems with this BUT only with the proviso the term MUST run the full four years otherwise I would not vote for any change. Like a lot of people, cynical as I am, I feel anything less than a mandatory (I love that word, particularly the NT version) four years would allow political parties to still manipulate election dates for party/political purposes, despite past protestations that four year terms are necessary for sound formulation of policies and their carrying out.

AS EDITED

Yours sincerely
