E-scooters and e-bikes are a great benefit in many ways for many people in many levels of society.

Unfortunately there are relatively few, mainly teen age and younger thrill seeking individuals, who've gained the negative focus of opinion by their misuse of e-scooters and e-bikes and have no regard for themselves or others. The outright banning of these devices because of the actions of reckless/careless few impacts and deprives the many of affordable transportation these devices provide in their daily lives and recreation when responsibly used. I would urge there be a reasonable regulating framework created to address the misusing individuals and not to crush/punish the rest who use them responsibly nor as an opportunity to extract yet more revenue as so often happens.
