On exiting our driveway its only a matter of when a fast movingly ebike/scooter goes over the car.

Regularly kids 12 year olds, parents with toddlers, zoom along the footpath outside our house. Not sure how parents can take toddlers on their bikes like this when a car must be fitted with special seats in the back for transport. I think legal ebikes and scooter are a good thing, but make bike lanes wider, get them off the footpath and they must have 3rd party insurance to pay for damage to life, property damage.
