I would recommend make e-mobility devices safer by education. Having a briefing to kids from year 1 to year 12 once every year. Including topics how to be safe with those devices and the manner to other road users. After 12 times briefing, 99% should know what's the right thing to do for the rest of their life. Can just be a PowerPoint or video, designed to different age kids. Play it to kids and teacher interaction afterwards in class. This would be a low cost but big benefit for the rest of the kids life and other road users.
