Hi all, It is about time that this is finalised. This has been going on far to long and too many people of all ages (especially the young) are being hurt and all killed. These biikes were always meant to be assisted peddling but have now become motor bikes that are being ridden on footpaths and some on the roads at speeds sometimes faster than a car in the same siituation. Kids of all ages are at fault and parents should be held liable for their actions. No helmets, too fast and no road sense at that age.Schools should also be responsible for this as they are riding onto their property and riding off of it.We seem to be going around and around with finalising where this should go.Maybe these kids need to be given a fine (as well as their parents) and say 6 - 12 months off being able to obtain a license depending upon the time a magistrate will give.
