Submitter Comments:

E scooters and e bikes are a wonderful progression in leisure and enable many more people to enjoy the outdoors. The rules already in place regarding compulsory use of helmets, age limits, reduced speed in busy areas etc are sufficient but those abusing those rules need to be fined (parents as well if under age) and banned from future use. This needs to be strictly enforced. It's not the scooters and bikes that are the problem, but rather the irresponsible riders. They should not be registered. They should be banned on roadways where there are sufficient bikeways and pedestrians always have right of way.
