With all vehicles that use public roads, all vehicular traffic MUST have 3rd party insurance, and follow the road rules. The same conditions MUST be applied to E e-scooters with mobility devices, be limited to a referral by a general practitioner. Why are road rules applied so discriminately as to apply to a section of the community and not the rest, yet it's more than likely that everyone's taxes go to affording a privilege to one section of the community? and not the others. Children under 12 should be exempt as long as the travel under 15 km an hour and not on roads
