I am so over unidentifiable E-bike riders riding dangerously on the road, speeding, weaving between cars and wheel standing through traffic, I honestly see this almost every day. And the worst thing is these are invariably kids putting themselves and others in danger. Electric cars and now electric motorbikes all have to be registered to be on the road and I see no reason why a smaller electric bike shouldn't be registered. It really is beyond a joke now and I don't know how else this can be reigned back in. Thank you
