Submitter Comments:

I support the registration and regulation of e-mobility devices—such as e-scooters and e-bikes—in a manner more aligned with motor vehicles than recreational toys. As these devices are increasingly used for daily commuting and urban transport, I believe they should be subject to similar requirements as cars or motorcycles. This includes proper registration, defined road-use rules, insurance coverage, and safety standards. Such measures will enhance accountability, promote responsible usage, and help protect both riders and the wider community.
