Every day I've seen high school children using e-scooters riding very very fast - at least 35 km, down the public footpath as I'm trying to walk up the same footpath. It will only be a matter of time before they themselves are seriously injured or they knock over and seriously injure a small child or member of public. I also see daily high school kids doubling up without helmets. I see daily e scooter riders flying down my street without helmets. When we went to Coolumberrig at Christmas, kids (12 year olds) were triple riding on e bikes, on the main road along the coast, as we were driving. Our speed was 45 km and they were travelling at the same speed as our car. It's getting worse and the police are so busy with other more serious crimes that these minor offences are getting worse as the offences are getting away with it
