How many more trees need to be cut and wildlife left without a home until we realise that humans are not the only creatures in the world? How many more trees need to be cut until we realise that there will come a time where doesn't matter how much money we have "it's not what we need to survive. Disgusting and disappointing move by the government fueled by greed. If we really are smart enough we would be considerate and wise to figure out a way to accommodate the olympics without compromising this land.
