Submitter Comments:

The proposed legislation for the Olympics development is going to circumnavigate 15 planning and Environmental laws threatening cultural heritage sites and habitat for our most endangered Queensland koalas. This is totally unacceptable and sets a serious precedent. Prior to the election this government pledged a commitment to renewables and action on climate change. New planning rules for renewables gives the government power to reject some projects even those which have already been submitted. Is this just a delaying tactic? This is unacceptable and appears to go against what was said before the election. We do not want to host an Olympics which has caused destruction of any wildlife or its habitat in the planning and construction.
