Trees help us breathe, not concrete monstrosities and if you upend laws to make this happen what's to stop it happening again. How many developers are eyeing off green space and calculating how many units they can squeeze on. One of the amazing things about London is the amount of green space, worth more than all the billionaires put together and protected. It gives a busy city a calm centre. Brisbane needs the same, once it's gone it will never come back. Victoria park belongs to the people, the rate payers, the people who put your government in power. I understand, you were handed a poison chalice by Blight who wanted a legacy and as a result your legacy will be environmental destruction. No one will thank you and even long term liberal voters like myself will be voting elsewhere at the next state election. Do you want a repeat of the federal election? Listen to the people. You're politicians, it's what you are supposed to do. You serve us, not yourselves.
