To the Committee Secretary, State Development, Natural Resources and Agricultural Industry Development Committee

Parliament of Queensland

Hello my name is Kemble Walker I am 27 nearly 28 and trying to make a life here with my fiancée, have a family and build a life. I live on the land in Batlow NSW where we moved 6 months ago.

we are meant to get 1280mm of rainfall per year but we have gotten 120mm in 6 months, 5 times less than normal.

here is a graph of rainfall in our town using data from BOM

Do you see the declining trend?

It is because of greenhouse gas emissions and because of land degradation. We young people and our children get poorer rainfall because of the decisions you make. That is not fair.

The world is waiting for someone as beautiful and caring and wonderful as you to do some marvellous thing that actually is a good move from government for once in the last 20 years.

Try to imagine how you want to be remembered? With love and affection by many young people? Or forgotten and consigned to the dustbin of history along with all the others.

Peace bro

Kemble Walker
