I am writing to urge you to do everything in your power to stop the Adani Coal Mine from going ahead. Mining around the Galilee Basin will have catastrophic consequences for the Great Barrier Reef, and any short term profit from the mine cannot possibly outweigh the cost of contributing heavily to climate change, impacting the reef (and all the species dependent on it) for the worse, and irreparably damaging our future. Some things cannot be quantified, and the environment is one of them. The safety and wellbeing of humans and animals relies on us making smart, climate-conscious decisions now to minimise the effect of climate change (including bushfires, heat waves and floods). The majority of Queenslanders do not want this mine - or any new coal mines - and I implore you as our representative to fight against the Adani mine being built and used. I am devastated that plans for the Adani mine continue to be discussed, and stopping Adani is an incredibly important election issue to me. It's not too late.

With hope,

Emily Larkin
