Dear Sir/Ma'am,

I am writing this letter in a hope you will read it and understand the extra burden and stress as this law will create.

I manage " ", a 250,000 acres property, running a cow/calf production with mulga as the only fodder. We manage the mulga as a reliable and sustainable resource it regenerates in a small amount of rain. It is cruel to see the cattle trying to reach a limb of mulga and not being allow to bring it down for them.

was est in 1890 and the house is a heritage listed dwelling we live in the homestead. The burden I speak of is the paperwork and compliance to the law 1 mistake in mapping and reporting and we are opened to quite a sustained fine. We employ 1 permanent staff and casual staff (eg: aerial and ground mustering), their position may become non-viable.

This is a burden and stress that nobody should be placed in the staff enjoy working out here, they work on the as if it is their own.

They are concerned that if we are forced to downsize the cattle numbers because of the fines and not enough regeneration. Where are they are going to find a job and jobs are difficult to find?

Sincerely yours,

Clynton Johnstone
Manager,
