Please save tree laws. Koalas are a huge icon for Australia's tourism. People want to know they are still in the wild not just in zoos. The world would be shocked if we didn't protect them.

With careful thoughtful planning, nature and civilisation can be integrated harmoniously.
Try giving people a chance to voice their ideas.

But we always need to keep lots of reserves, bush land, parks and national parks around us. It's important for the health of people too. Physically and mentally.
