Hello

We have been in business for over 33 years suppling earthmoving machinery parts to farmers in Queensland.

We employ nearly 70 full time staff.

We are worried that if the farmers are not allowed to push mulga and clear regrowth to feed their sheep & cattle our sales of parts to them will drop and we may have to put off some staff.

Please consider the flow on effects of these laws.

The pushing of mulga to feed animals is very important, it has been going on and regenerating itself for generations.

These farmers don't want to do anything to their farms that can't be sustained for future generations.

They are barely surviving as it is.

Please don't make it any harder for them.

Regards

Andrew Tilly
