To Whom it may concern,

I would like to make a submission against the legislature proposed against prong collar ownership/use in Queensland, Australia for the following reasons-

- Insufficient due process was followed when this was brought up in the last few days, being piggy backed onto a different set of discussion points regarding pet dog ownership.
- Proponents of the prong collar tool have not been consulted on whether this would in fact better animal welfare. This includes sectors such as the police, personal protection, professional trainers etc.
- Insufficient studies on perceived effect of the proposed ban.

I feel that this needs to be addressed with proper due process, and best practice.

Kind Regards

Peter Eleftheriou
