The Australian Government has a shocking history of how it treats its First Nation peoples, its refugees and its animals. It seems to have been shamed into taking action on the first two issues, but is sadly lacking on the third issue animal welfare. With social media able to expose other Countries frailties, then the whole world is going to know just how draconian and outdated the Australian Government is in its treatment of its animals. Now is the time for the Australian Government to show case just how far we have come as a Nation and elevate its treatment of all animals to that of a World leader in the important matter of Animal Welfare.
