Submitter Comments:

I have been hearing about glue traps for the last few months and hadn't realised the impact until seeing photos of small birds, reptiles and mammals caught in these traps. Australia already has one of the world's worst records when it comes to species extinction. There is much discussion on how to save species, but by allowing glue traps to be sold we are adding to the problem. Imagine the pain and terror that animals experience as they try against all odds to free themselves. Please ban these cruel traps. They are unnecessary.
