The basis of our system is a fair go for all. I think that this should be extended to other animals or species upon which we ultimately depend for our existence. One only has to look at the current state of the world to see the effect of NOT doing so. A move in the direction I indicate must be made to stabilise a system of reliance such as this. The Bunnings petition on change.org highlights a situation that is easily remedied even at the cost of financial profit. The leap must be made sometime. Regards Keith Gould.
