

Inquiry into the Animal Care and Protection Amendment Bill 2022

Submission No: 430
Submitted by: Thomas Schild
Publication: Make my submission and my name public
Attachments: No attachment

Submitter Comments:

Honorable members of parliament, When you consider the Animal care and protection amendment bill 2022 it is important the sale and use of all glue traps be banned in the state of Queensland. These traps, including those designed to trap small creatures such as insects are indiscriminate and inhumane. Animals caught in such traps are destined for a painful period of immobility until death takes them through starvation and dehydration. Even weaker glue traps designed for insects can have unintended consequences, trapping small lizards and other animals. Put yourself into the place of a small reptile, mammal or bird stuck in such a trap unable to move, struggling to get free. Picture yourself being injured as the adhesive attaches to your body while dehydrating and starving to death. No animal deserves this fate. Ban all glue traps in Queensland.