I would like to see glue traps banned as they are extremely dangerous to so much of our wildlife the traps are not intended to harm. But harm they do! They are so easily available and people think that by having a glue trap present that will do away with insects. The other big problem here is folks don't check them very often, so birds, bats, native rodents and other animals get caught in them and die a slow painful death usually due to starvation and dehydration. Some even will chew through a leg to get off, usually not succeeding and dying a terrible death. In general, as far as our wildlife are concerned, these glue traps are a very dangerous product and sale should be banned. There are other more humane ways to manage insects.
