

Inquiry into the Animal Care and Protection Amendment Bill 2022

Submission No: 639
Submitted by: Karen Hinds
Publication: Make my submission and my name public
Attachments: No attachment

Submitter Comments:

To the Parliamentary Committee, Thank you for the opportunity to voice my concerns about the dire state of animal protection. Domestic, agricultural, native and animals used in gambling, entertainment and research are not valued except for profit, breeding and consumerism. Trapping, including glue traps, so-called culling, waste, pollution and loss of habitat, hunting and importing non-indigenous animals and animal smuggling, all contribute to animal suffering. We could be the generation that ends ignorance and suffering or continues our terrible record of endangerment and extinction. I urge you to act on the many behaviours of government, business and individuals who treat animals with contempt and indifference and create protections that will be well explained and thoroughly enforced. Thank You