These glue traps are cruel and unnecessary. If someone feels the need to control "pests", they should do it in a fast and humane way. Moreover, they should be targeting exactly the animals they want to kill, not allowing other wild animals to become trapped and killed. I don't believe in the killing of animals other than for self defense, but because many do, and this won't change, it should be done in a painless and instant way. How can you look at the photos of animals that have been caught in these traps and not use the power you have to make it impossible for it to continue happening? Please use the leverage you have. There are thousands of people behind this - but you need to make the choice to support it.
