As a mature resident of this state Queensland I am most concerned about the continued destruction of habitat and the wild birds and animals who live within our ecosystem. I am particularly concerned about what humans are doing to wipe out species that I as a child had the opportunity to see in their natural environment but my future generations will not see. As time progresses we constantly made aware of the devastating results of man made products that cause a slow and painful death to the birds and animals that are a natural part of our land. As educated humans we have no right to destroy what was here before us and are a part of our ecosystem. The adhesive baits sold by Bunnings should be banned immediately to protect the birds that unless action is taken will become another statistic on the endangered record. There are times when we must observe what is naturally best for the land on which we have the privilege to spend our life and it must be respected so the generations to follow will be able to enjoy what had the opportunity to enjoy. Killing our wild life in a manner such as these baits shows nothing more than a cruel and irresponsible attitude to birds that we should respect and protect and not allow products that are inhumane. If I were to kill a snake I would be liable to prosecution and a hefty fine but currently Governments stand by and allow the destruction of our beautify birds in a manner that should be legally disallowed. I urge those on this committee to strongly consider and oppose the sale of these baits here in our state Queensland and let us show the other State that we are leaders in the protection of our Wild Life. Respectfully P.
