Dear Madam/Sir It is our humanly duty to minimise unnecessary suffering to all animals and creatures as much as is possible. I am not against the eradication of pests, however think it important that such is carried out in a manner that is quick and minimises suffering to the relevant animal/creature. Glue traps are not that. They cause unnecessary prolonged suffering and often trap the wrong animals, and should therefore be banned. We have other methods available that are very effective. Please consider the banning of these traps. Thanks. Kind regards Marion
