Submitter Comments:

I would just like to voice my opinion as a concerned person of the care and protection of our already fragile ecosystems and wildlife. If we as people don't try and protect these environments the world in the future will be in a dire predicament. I find these particular traps as inhuman as the fox and bear traps in days gone by. These small animals and reptiles that are caught by such a barbaric method die a long, slow painful death. They need to be banned from such easily accessible purchase if they are to be on the market at all. I wish to thank for your time viewing my personal submission.
