This trap is designed to immobilise a victim, where it will be pinned until it dies a cruel, tortured death, or if it is more fortunate, it will die in total terror when violently dispatched at the hands of a perpetrator, too stupid or uncaring to practice humane methods of production. Surely it would be more humane and infinitely more effective to educate those who need to reduce interactions with wildlife, in their efforts to enrich their lives. Pointless cruelty to any animal or lifeform should be illegal. Is there anything left to be said ?
