I hope I am not toooo late!Animals deserve better treatment. They are kind gentle souls and we are not doing them justice with the current Protection Act.I feel breeders should not be allowed, they will never have the best interest of the animal. This practice ideally should cease because it is detrimental to all the rescue groups that are inundated with abandoned dogs/cats and thousands are put down every year because people can easily dump one when it gets sick or too old and get a new pet.
