I wish to talk about dog issues which are causing so much concern and always have and unfortunately always will. EDUCATION for the owner on owning a dog would and does alleviate or at least lessens the problem. People need to understand and fully recognize the dog is a Canine (a totally different species to us) and as such understand a different form of language. We need a license to drive a car - why not a license to own a dog of any breed.? 65 years or working with thousands of dogs and people have given me some knowledge I believe and I certainly hope so or I have wasted my life. Its a people training industry when all is said and done.
